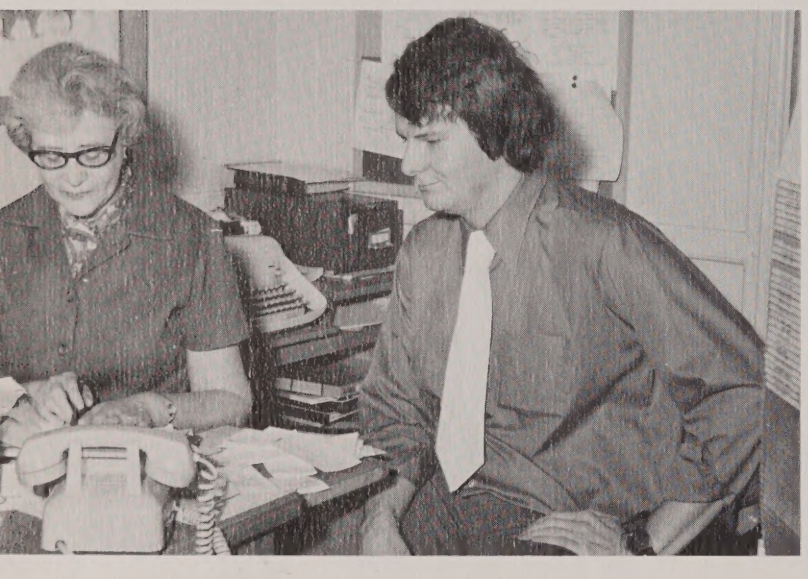
Achievements

With an overabundance of students and a decided lack of classroom space, the administration somehow managed to maintain its usual degree of efficiency while facing both the ordinary and the unique problems stumbled upon during the school year, 1971-1972.

Studies, always horrors for both students and teachers, were relaxed and became informal. The new attendance system worked reliably and at least everyone actually present was always accounted for.

Mr. Stacy's pleasure at all accomplishments, in sports and otherwise, was always freely expressed and gratifying.

Because of hard work (and hard heads) the administration, faculty, and student body somehow managed to leave WHS standing after yet another year of both strains and achievements.



Mrs. Agnes Brigham and Mr. Greg McCutcheon. Below: Mr. Robert Geib and Mr. Thomas Reiss join forces.

Mr. Stacy continues his paper work.

With reams of students, papers, questions, booklets, speakers, and tests entering and leaving the small Guidance Department office it's a wonder that anything at all was achieved. Quite to the contrary, however, students were (with a fairly high frequency) sent from that office, the needed information in hand, and high hopes for the year after graduation.

Thanks goes to the counselors who were forever busy but always willing to listen and Mrs. Cecchi who kept everything moving: the counselors, the mail, and the students.

Refreshing Year: English

The English department, headed by Mr. Arthur Hull, saw great innovations as the 1971-72 schedule materialized. Students were astounded by, and perhaps even interested in, the newly developed, over-abounding semester courses. With the aid of all departmental teachers, students could study Madame Bovary, Battle Cry, Vanity Fair, Moby Dick, Henry IV, and nearly any other book on any other subject desired.

A departure from the drudgery of composition writing was found in the newly developed "slide-tape" program. Accepted by many outside authorities, this new method, along with Journalism and the Creative Writing course, added needed life and vitality to this important field of English.

All in all, it was a most refreshing year for the age-old, always-required-subject, English.

Social Studies: A Full Year

In the area of Social Studies, broad steps were taken by Mr. Coviello and his enthusiastic staff. Field trips were planned and outside speakers, such as Mr. Thomas from India, attempted to add to the students' understanding of current national and world affairs.

Initiated by this department, the mock 1972 presidential election with its posters, speeches, conventions, and balloting, added one more dimension to this growing field of study.

In many areas, students were asked to aid their teachers and the department by preparing needed material for various courses. The International Relations class sold breakfast and ended up with full stomachs; in other courses, stories were related, games played, one's inhibitions expressed, and various presentations were made to excited (?) audiences.

It was definitely a full year!

Moving Right Along: Languages

As one would probably suspect, the modern language department has been moving right along with the times. No longer a harem with the arrival of "Herr Stoltze," the department, chaired by Mr. Paglari, keeps pushing cultural exchanges and broadening experiences.

Spanish students saw "The Man From La Mancha," those in French V saw Moliere's "School for Wives," and the Spanish Club saw Mexico.

Language courses for the non-college prep student, aiming at a basic background in speaking and culture, were begun this year, and more are expected to be added for next year.

With the winds in this direction, the Language Department is sure to become even better than it has been in the past.

Miss Dale Silva.

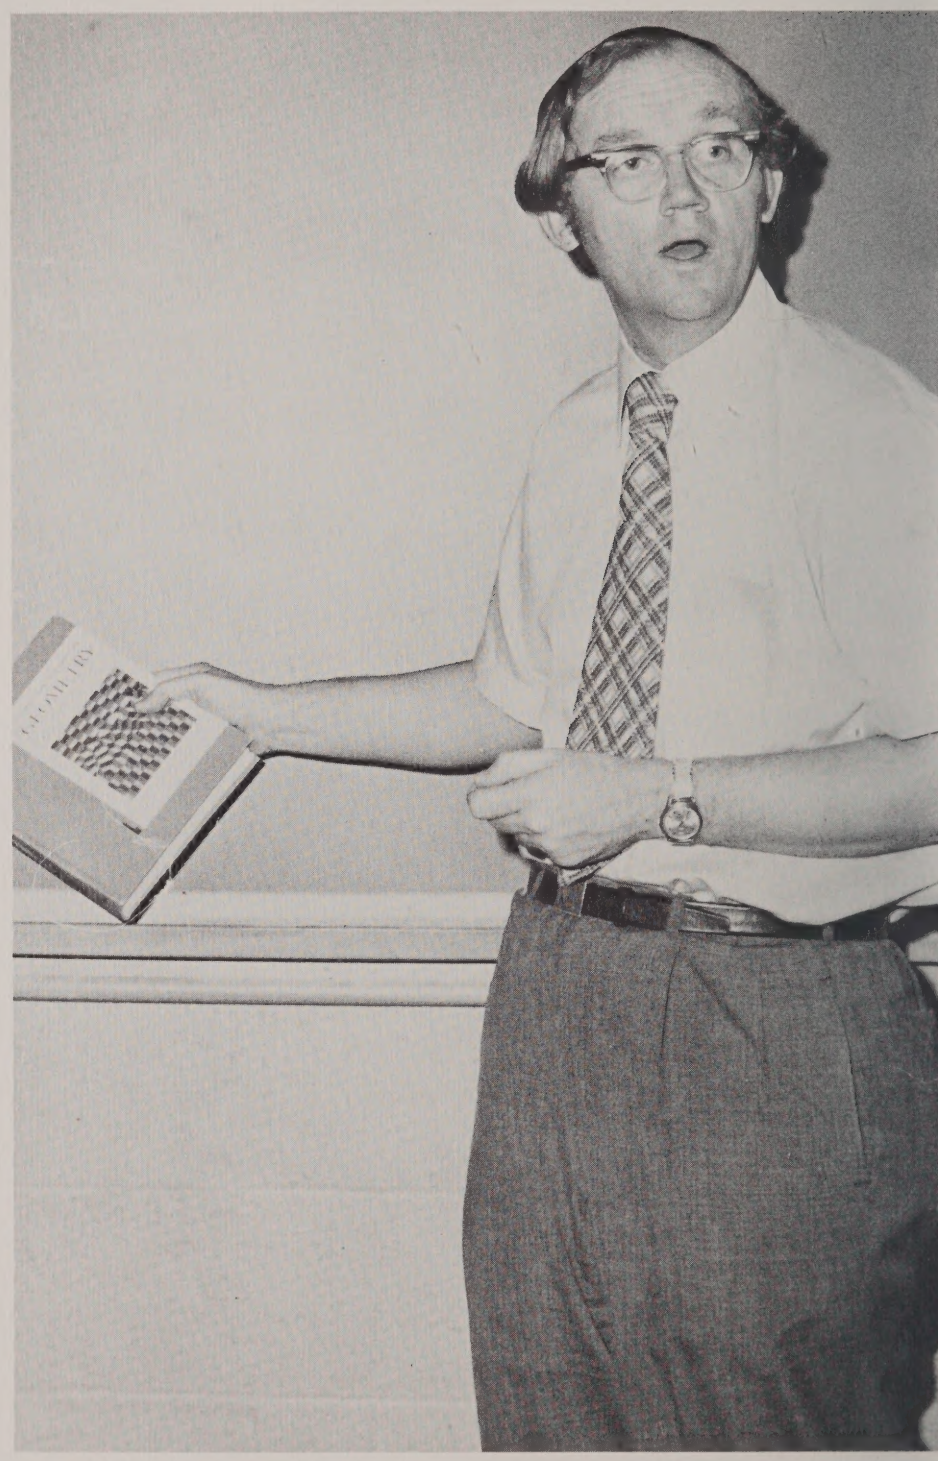
One More Year for Mathematics



Once again, the Math Department, led by Mrs. Lind (alias Miss Radzwill), worked and calculated in an attempt to stimulate the students' interests in the field of mathematics. The two courses added last year, "Math Topics" and "Computer Programming," remained on the schedule, while "Symbolic Logic" and "Probability and Statistics" (with poor Mrs. Caruso fighting "senioritis" during 7th period) became new components of a heavily laden program.

With new students clamoring for more (but always easier) math courses, that entire wing of teachers is expecting even more difficulties next year than all those the Class of '72 provided.

You don't say?

With the importance of science becoming more and more evident, Mr. Wakeford conducted his department in a search for more specialized and also more interesting studies. Three new courses were added: Social Aspects of Science, Problems in Biology, and Ideas and Investigations in Science.

After a previously successful year of "mini" courses, the department continued with Ecology, Human Biology, and Genetics and Evolution, along with teacher rotation.

The Harvard Project Physics and a highly independent study program were encouraged, and many students (although told they knew relatively nothing after taking a "revealing" test during late November) found themselves, plus a number of new teachers, interested and ready for their next level of instruction.

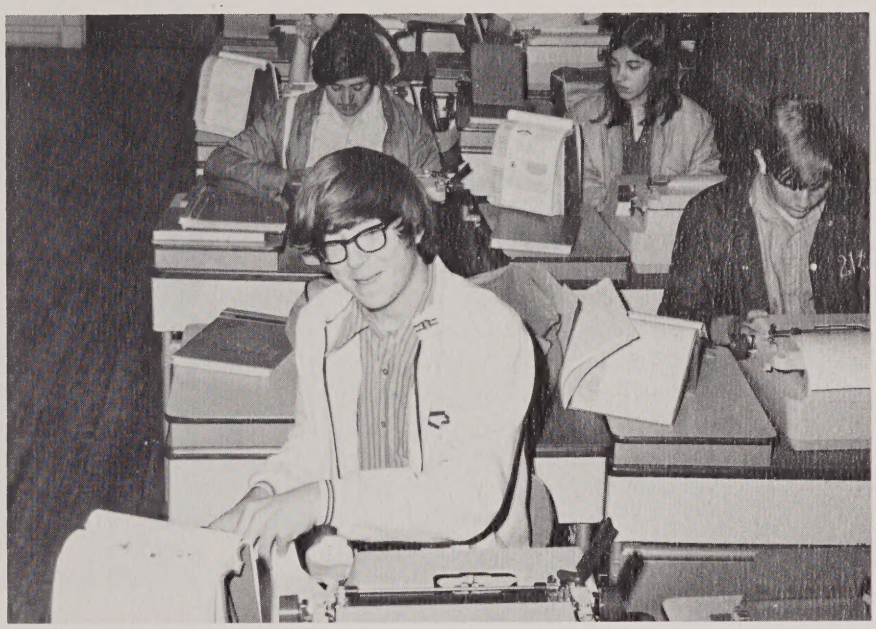
Steps Forward for the Business Department



This year, the Business Department, under the direction of Raymond Valaitis, took a giant step forward towards meeting the needs of the business student. The introduction of the Work-Study Program proved a great success and was received enthusiastically by both the students and their employers. The Business Club was once again on the move, and the students visited several companies that helped to enhance their own personal opinions of the business world. Activities like the Work-Study program, and the combined effort of all the teachers towards making a better and more relevant program, are helping the student in his preparation and training for the unknown which awaits him in the outside world of "Big Business."

Industrial Arts

As with almost every department at Walpole High, new and better equipment was being supplied while the crowded facilities continued to remain the same. Despite this obstacle, the Industrial Arts department (even after allowing itself to "go co-ed") managed somehow to maintain its high level of instruction.

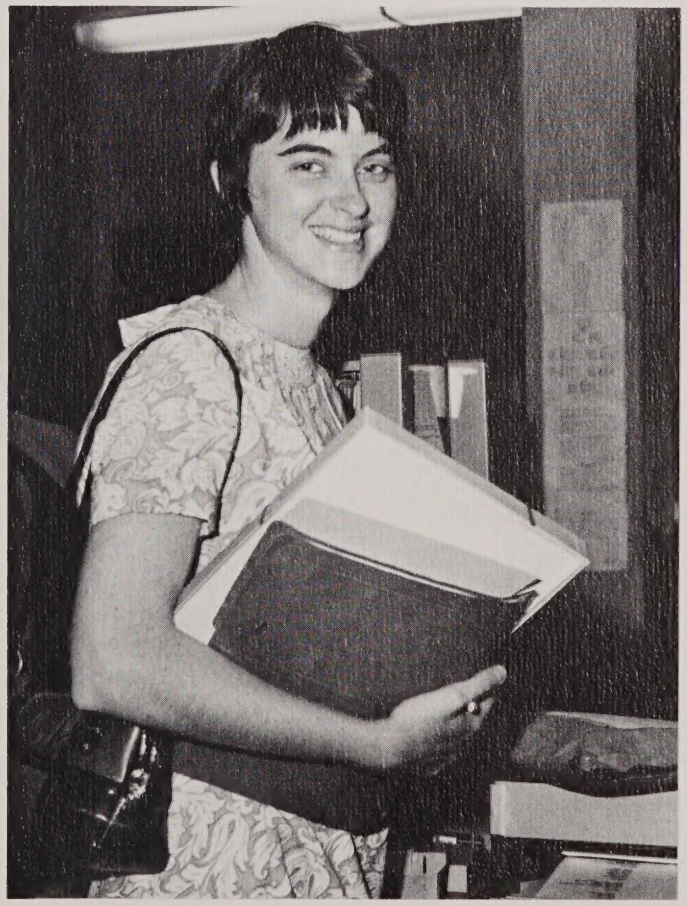
Mr. Edwin Page, Mr. Ermando Morini, Mr. George Conaty, Mr. Peter Lind, Mr. James Gable.

Home Ec: No "Stay-at-Home" Image

Mrs. Gloria White.

The Home Economics department continued to emphasize the need for the "total woman" who exists outside the home as well as in it. 1972 saw the return of the solidly established courses of Human Behavior and Family Living, and the beginning of Home Management. If the department has its way, it will continue to grow in different areas, and hopefully liberate its own "stay-at-home" image.

Miss Evans.



Art

Thanks to the never-ending efforts of department head Alfred Lazzeri and teacher Robert Gardner, this year's Art department has been able to broaden and expand its program. Students were given the chance to express themselves more creatively than ever as they became actively involved in the new courses of Creative Crafts, Commercial Design, and Art Major.

Student involvement in the fine arts didn't stop at school, but grew into the community, and from there into the Picnic in the Park, the Christmas Workshop, and the Arts Council. Next year, with the added help of two new teachers, the department hopes to expand its program, and instill a sense of creativity in the student, while, at the same time, meeting the needs of tomorrow's artist.

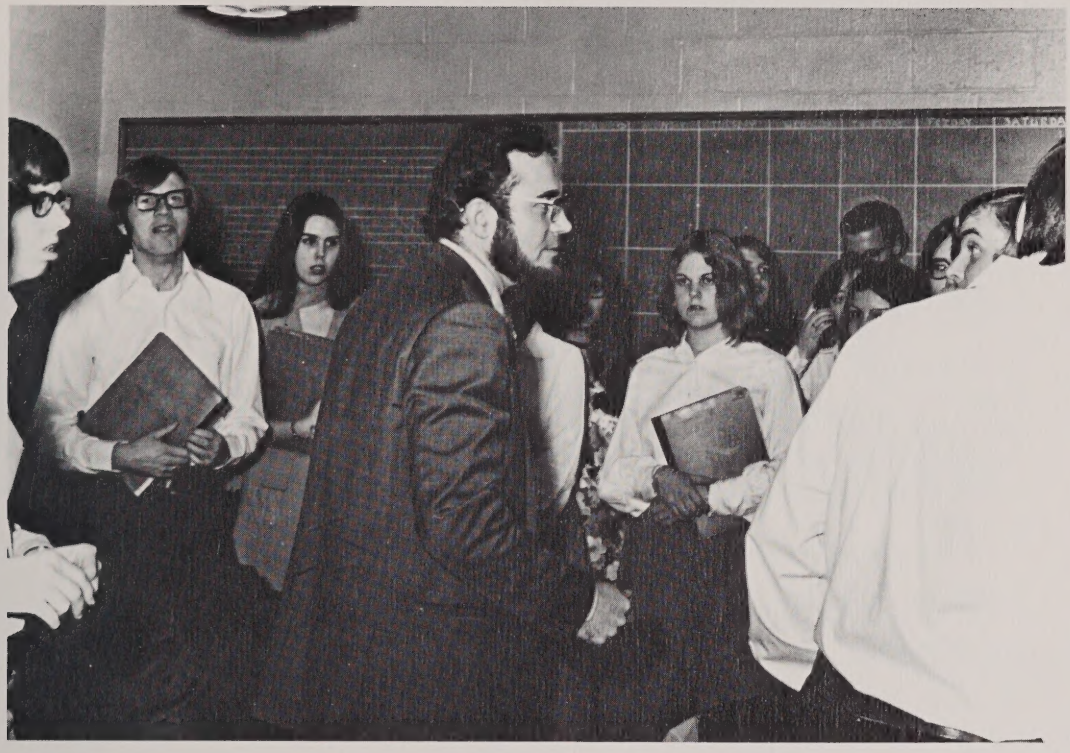
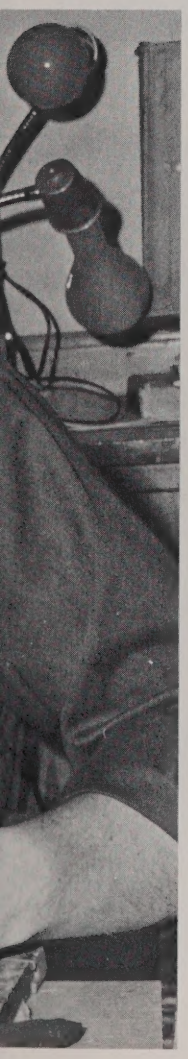
Music



Mr. Thomas Mills



The Music department, led singlehandedly by Thomas Mills, played and sang its way to heights never before reached at Walpole High. The Christmas and Spring concerts, successes in their own rights, still proved to be only the introduction to the tremendous performance that was heard at the first annual Pops Concert. Our band and chorus combined with those of Martha's Vineyard and succeeded, for the first time in a long while, in overwhelming the audience with their fantastic displays of musical ability and talent. The newly formed Madrigal Singers, Chorus, and Band just kept getting better and better, while at the same time, the enthusiasm kept growing and growing. Hats off to this one-man department and its dedicated musicians who gave everything they had to keep music alive and more than well at Walpole High.

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT

The Athletic Department, headed by Mr. Burke, continued its never-ending quest of turning out physically fit students.

The senior girls were for the first time ever given a choice of four different "courses." With sections such as First Aid, Body Mechanics (Miss Brainard's Body Building), and Self-Defense, included with the usual gym sports, it proved to be a very successful program for all involved.

The boys continued with their program of various sports (including some pretty wild street hockey games), exercise, and the usual grumbling.

The sweat lost was exercise gained, and so went the year for Mr. Burke and his Phys. Ed. team.

BRAVE NEW WORLD

Migrating from East and West Junior High to the old bastion on the top of the hill was a shocking experience. Other than the strain of walking up the educational ladder, was the strain of walking the delapidated steps of an antiquated high school.

The paint was faded and peeling. The autumn wind rattled through the casings of the warped windows, and yet somehow, in the buzzing activities of a busy Sophomore class, the sombre setting was all but forgotten. It was a good year.

The year began with a slave day, and many sophomores, wearing red arm bands were purchased by upperclassmen. Their second fund-raising event was a greeting card sale and they brought the year to a finish with a dance during the month of May.

Unlike the sophomores, the Juniors were oblivious to the peeling plaster walls and leaking ceilings. They also had a busy year which started with a bake-sale at the Natick-Walpole football game, continued by having a car-wash, and had the Prom as a grand finale.

EXIT

Welcome home Chris!

Chris Varney brought national fame to Walpole when she was selected as the 1972 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. It all started in December when Chris received the highest mark in a state-wide test taken by 16,000 high school seniors. This led to a trip to Washington in April for further tests and interviews. The prize — a $5,000 college scholarship.

Good news!

Student Council

The current Student Council brought leadership and success to the 1971-1972 school year. Headed by President Dick Koffinke, Vice-President Sally Berry, Secretary Brenda Joy, and Treasurer Paula Silvi, the Student Council started its year of activities with a Pep Rally for the Natick football game. Dressed in the team's football gear, a number of the girls from the Class of 72 not only performed an amusing "take-off" of the Rebel Football Team in action, but more important incited spirit throughout the school for the biggest football game of the season. Other activities sponsored by the Student Council this year were the Autumn Queen Dance, a dance held for the Junior High School students, and the concert by the group from Miami called "Free-Fare". This concert brought a welcomed relief to the usual and sometimes humdrum school day.

Also, the Student Council played an active and important role in the April 31, Bike Ride for the Retarded, offering refreshments for scores of weary bike-riders returning from the thirteen-mile course through a good part of Walpole.

A Look

At Loon

Let's do it! Early morning rises for Loonies, awakening to frost covered sleeping bags and frozen boots. No fire this morning, must move on. The times are down with forty mile an hour winds fighting to kill your strength and spirit.

The Loon Project was a time of self-satisfaction and fulfillment, group learning, and togetherness.

From Mexican Bullfights . . .

After months of planning and raising funds, the Spanish Club spent April vacation in Mexico. These forty students, with the help of parents and supervisors, Miss Conolly and Mr. Paglari, sponsored several successful candy sales, suppers, bake sales, and a raffle to raise $4,250.

Their week-long stay was highlighted by a tour of Mexico City, trips to the Universidad de Mexico and the Teotihuacan Pyramids, the bullfights, the Ballet Folklorico, and shopping sprees.

The Junior Classical League got off to a fine start in November by bringing home a first prize from the catapult contest at Bedford High School. The group attended the Greek play Antigone in November and Classics Day at Holy Cross in March. Further evidence of renewed interest in Latin was shown at the annual State Convention at Marblehead High School in April. This included Olympics, academic contests, and a Roman comedy. Walpole's Roman Banquet displayed a taste of Latin culture by authentic costumes, a slave auction, footraces and entertainment.

When Mr. Thomas Mills came to Walpole High School this year, his enthusiasm and hard work generated a new spirit in the music department. His impact was shown in the attitude of the student participants, the quality of performances, and the difficulty of the music, the number of performances, and the interest the community showed toward the music program.

The marching band, which participated in pep rallies, parades, and every football game, had grown to forty musicians. With the help of junior high school activities, its membership should reach eighty in three years.

The concert band opened its season with a Christmas concert, exhibiting not only their instrumental growth but their ability to play more difficult pieces. One such composition, titled This Day, was written by Mr. Mills specifically for the Walpole High School band, chorus, and an additional rock band.

The Christmas concert was follwed by a successful spring concert and Walpole's first 'Pops' concert. Also performing with the band were the three choruses: The school chorus, the after school chorus (which amplifies the previous one), and the Madrigal Singers.

The Madrigal Singers, a small, selective choral group, has made itself available for entertainment and musical service to groups in the surrounding communities.

Mr. Mills is striving to bring music to people of all ages and hopes that Walpole will lend its much needed support. A future goal of the music director is to build a program of music comparable to any other major course. He certainly has made an impressive start!

This year's National Honor Society wound up a very active year with a Spring convention at Wheaton College where students participated in a wide variety of seminars. In addition, the seniors carried out their final duties with the installation of new members at an evening ceremony and tea for parents and friends.

The purpose of the Business Club and Future Teachers was to acquaint students with the community and prepare them for future careers. The Business Club hosted speakers on subjects of grooming and jobs and visited the Factory Mutual and Jordan Marsh offices. The Future Teachers served as aides at Plimpton School.

Other students pursued their individual interests this year by competing in Math meets, baking cakes, or expertly skiing the slopes of Blue Hills.

Igniting The Rebel Spirit

This year's cheerleaders had something to get up and cheer about. Together, yelling, screaming and laughing, they worked hard to give the football team extra support and inspiration needed to climb to the top of the Baystate League.

Captain Kathy Daly and her girls provided spirit for all sports events by giving a fine show to fans with their: "Go blue! Go white! Go team! Fight! Fight!"

Meanwhile, the Baton Squad, looking sharp as ever doing their Spinners, Fans, and Flatspins, drew rounds of applause from the crowd. Their performances at the football games were dynamic and as the squad marched down the field at half-time, everyone looked on, proud to have them represent Walpole High.

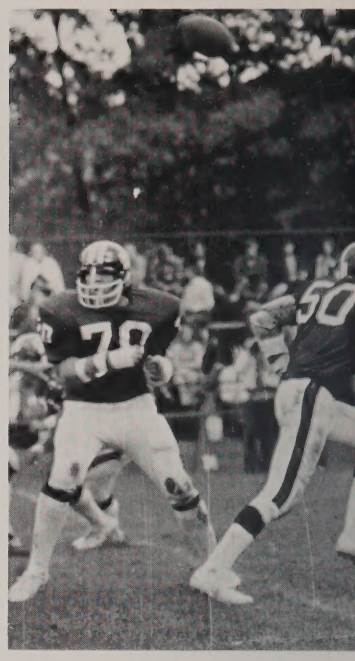
Visions Fulfilled — Class A Champs



Proc gets steadfast

They say that way down south in Dixie the old times won't be forgotten. To be sure neither will the football team—the '71 Rebels.

After three years of gruelling camp, learning the intricacies of the system and the spirit of teamwork the Rebels were now ready. Since their undefeated sophomore season they had had a vision—that of being the champs. Tired of being called upstarts and frogs they were ready to prove themselves. Now as the autumn rolled around they were primed.

With General Lee in firm command the Rebels first blew pre-season favorite South off Turco Field 32-0. With a subsequent pair of hard fought wins over Wellesley and Milton the team was on the move. As the chips began falling a fever was mounting—for Natick, too, remained unbeaten. November 8th wasn't far away.

The Rebel offense behind the superb passing duo of all-scholastics Gary Procaccini to Frank Noyes and the fleet and shifty running of tailback John Delaney was unstoppable. Little wonder, too, because the defense under the tutelage of Coach Paul Turcelli was so often giving them the ball. Constant drilling paid off as the stingy Rebel "D" racked up local records by shutting out four opponents and allowing a mere 34 points throughout the season.

November 8th was THE DAY. Over seven thousand football buffs throughout the state (the largest crowd ever to witness a WHS event) thronged Turco Field to witness the Natick—Walpole contest heralded as THE GAME OF THE YEAR in State schoolboy circles. It was the Class A Title game which took Walpole's finest effort to drop the Redmen in a 22-8 thriller. By virtue of this big victory and a tie with stubborn Northsiders in a Turkey Day mud puddle the Rebels had finally attained their goal—the State Champs—Number 1!

Rebel Booters "Halfway" There

The success formula in any team sport includes a sound defense and a high scoring offense. The 1971 Rebel booters thus were halfway there—boasting a solid defense but lacking the potent offensive attack so vital for victory.

Fortunes looked good at the onset because after four games the booters had racked up a 3-1 mark which included a pair of shutouts. Eyes were upon an Eastern Mass. Tournament bid.

Here, though, the headaches began for first year coach Robert Ellis. Each game the boys played exciting soccer only to be frustrated in five double overtime contests with a 1-1-3 record to show. Time and again a fired-up and aggressive defense rose to the occasion, never allowing more than four goals in a game. The boys were never out of a game. Yet to win, a team must put the ball in the net and this the Rebels couldn't consistently seem to do. It was greatly this lack of scoring punch which resulted in the string of heartbreaking losses in a season which in all other aspects would have been considered successful.

Harriers Capture League and State Class Titles!

Countless hours of running through the woods reaped their rewards this year, as for the first time ever, Walpole High School fielded a championship cross-country team. The 1971 version breezed through their league schedule without a loss and went on to take several post-season honors.

Co-captains Mike Crehan and Steve Kiley led the team in a season which saw no opposing runner placing ahead of either Rebel. A great highlight of the regular season was Kiley's smashing of the Walpole course record with a time of 12:08. Two other records were missed by Kiley and Crehan by but one and two seconds. In the conference meet once again it was Walpole with medal-winning Kiley and Crehan and fellow senior Tom Travers pacing the squad.

On a perfect Saturday morning in October the Harriers travelled to Franklin Park in Boston and captured the Division III first place trophy. This too, was a first and enabled the boys to qualify for the State Finals where they took a third place. This spectacular effort further advanced them into the New England Championships at the University of New Hampshire where they finished a very respectable seventh—ending the most tremendous season ever enjoyed by a Harrier team.

VICTORY

Dowsie's new facial.

Following a memorable week at the Merestead Field Hockey and Lacrosse Camp in Maine, eleven returning letterwinners strengthened their skills on Walpole's rocky practice field.

The backbone defense set an unprecendented record by preventing a single shot on goal throughout the regular season, while Ann Hazlett and junior Reenie Groden spurred Walpole's scoring punch with outputs of nine and ten goals respectively.

The depth offered by juniors and the determination of the entire varsity squad was exemplified by the outstanding record of 13 wins, 0 losses, and 2 ties. The Junior varsity play was also strong, boasting a record of 8 wins, 3 losses, and 3 ties.

At the banquet at Sandy's Restaurant, seniors bid a sad farewell to Coaches Brainard and Schneider, and the Porketts. They lend their spirit and encouragement to continue the first winning streak since 1945—1950. Fight! Score! Win! Porkers!

SCRUNCH!!

The 1971-72 Wrestling season, to be sure, brought mixed emotions. Inexperience in certain weight classes and a trio of heartbreaking losses by the combined total of eight points attributed to a somewhat disappointing league standing. However, the overall season was quite successful, highlighted by some shining individual efforts.

Grapplers Phil Tryon and Jim Penza each had fine personal seasons, losing but five matches between them. Heavyweight Al Virtue and fellow senior Brian Pelligrine bulldozed through fourteen matches undefeated. The "Pell" proved especially awesome to foes as he went on to capture second place in the State Tourney. With this milestone behind him, Brian advanced to the "New Englands" where he mustered a spectacular fourth-place finish. In achieving this great feat, Pell made history as being the first Walpole Grappler to wrestle in the New England Tourney.

Battle For .500 Season

Greg lights the lamp

Walpole's hockey fortunes took at least a small turn for the better this season as the scrappy, young Rebels attained a .500 mark.

With Greg Kole returning as the only seasoned veteran, inexperience hurt at the beginning of the season. The team got off to a slow start as they found trouble in lighting the lamp. However, a mid-season line shakeup provided the needed punch. Kole was moved from the points to center a line with Jim Baldassari and John Delaney. With this maneuver, the pucksters began to click and played some brilliant hockey highlighted by a near upset over State champion Norwood and a 4-4 deadlock with a tough Braintree sextet.

With the improvement shown the second half of the season, hopefully began Walpole's uphill battle to regain its hockey supremacy.

In The Groove — Records Broken

It was sparkling individual performances that highlighted the 1971-72 winter track season in which numerous records were shattered. New indoor records were established by the undefeated Mike Crehan (mile and 2 mile) and Steve Kiley (600 and 1000). Lanky Dave Sullivan smashed a record in the high hurdles as did Joe DiGiantommaso in the 300. Perhaps the most climactic record breaking feat of all, however, occurred in the State Coaches Meet where high jumping Pete Carlson leaped to the fantastic height of 6'4¼" to cop the first place trophy.

Performances like the above also enabled Walpole to fare better than ever at the State Class Meet this year. John Travers was victorious in the 600, while Kiley and Crehan captured medals in the 1,000 and mile, respectively, making as close to the most successful season ever enjoyed by a Rebel winter track team.

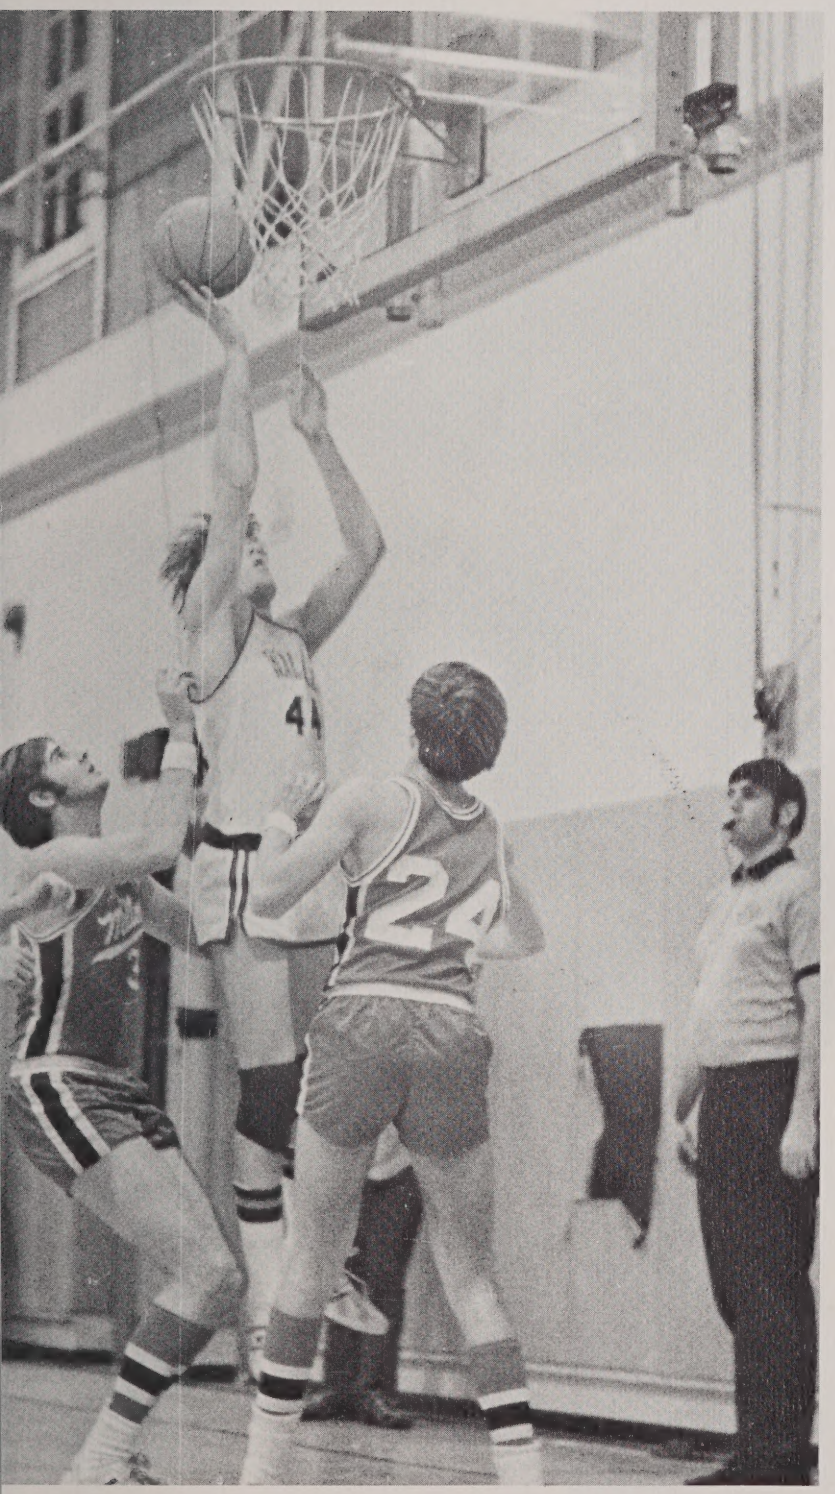
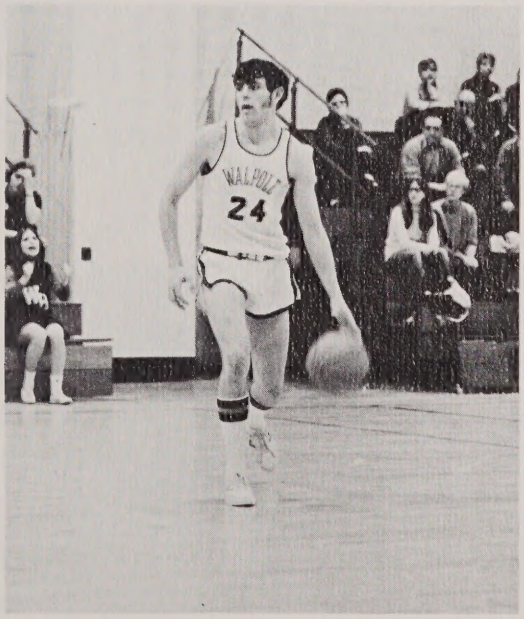
The Gang That Couldn't Shoot Straight



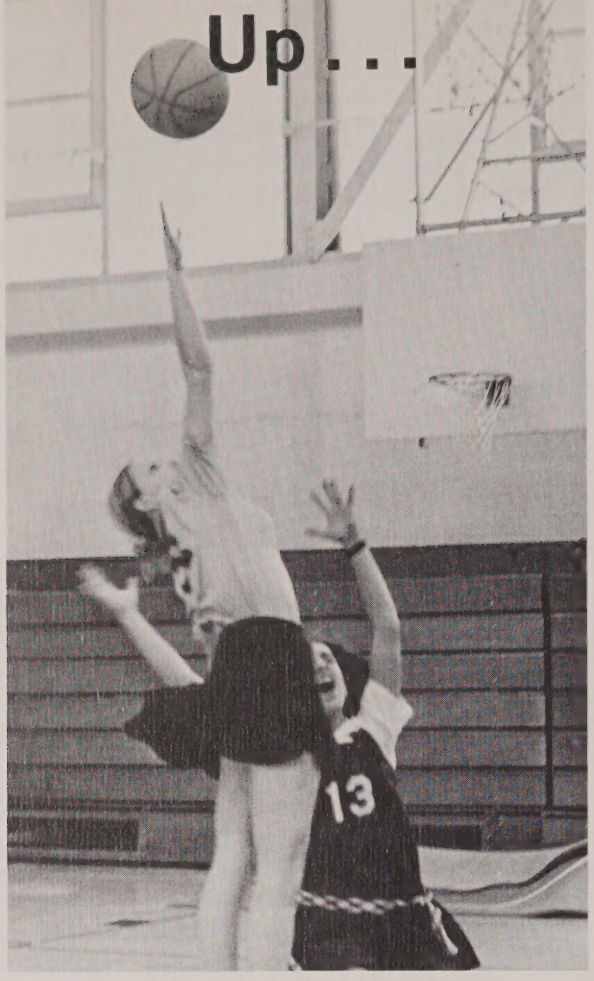
Wild lays it up and in.

As was expected, the 1971-72 Rebel hoop campaign loomed as a "rebuilding year." With exactly ZERO starters returning, any visions of a successful season appeared dim from the start. Despite the fact that the boys lacked the height, shooting ability, and experience of some opponents, they never quit, and hustled till the final buzzer.

Led by sparky captain Frank Noyes and hot-handed all-star Gary Procaccini, the stubborn Rebels mustered a fine second-half victory over Wellesley and an even sweeter one over arch rival Norwood. Maybe the gang couldn't shoot straight, but they were a great bunch of hustlers.



Frank takes charge.



History is made! For the first time, Walpole's girl hoopsters clinched the Bay State League Championship with a perfect record of nine wins-zero losses.

What led to this outstanding performance? After three years of hard work, six seniors displayed an incredible improvement in ball handling and shooting. The team set a record of the highest average score of 39 points per game. Another key to victory was the depth offered by other members, such as next year's captain, Tricia Crehan. Miss Brainard feels that the team was the most balanced she had ever coached. Winning the championship gave the team its first opportunity to compete in the Southeastern Massachusetts Girl's Invitational Basketball Tournament. Although they suffered a disappointing loss, the event was still an exciting experience, and the season a happy one.

Coach Schneider's j.v. team also went undefeated in league games, putting the finishing touch to the basketball year by walloping Milton, 27-2.

Late Snow Grounds Ski Team

This year the Walpole High ski team had an almost endless wait for snow. However, with the encouragement of coaches—Mr. Phil Preston and Miss Sally Flemings and co-captains—Paula Silvi and Jay Barranger, the team planted their herringbones through the Town Forest as they hopefully waited for snow. When it finally did come, slolem and cross-country races, which were to be spread over an eight-week period, were squeezed into three. Despite the seventh place finish of the team, Eric Smeltzer shushed over the finish line in the first race at Wayland, a full minute ahead of his first competitor.

Improved Gymnasts Narrow

The girl's gymnastic team started the season with four non-league games in which they posted an encouraging 3 wins-1 loss record.

Although the league record was 2 wins-6 losses, the team did not lose a meet by more than seven points except to Braintree, this year's champions. This great improvement over last year's loss point average of eighteen is due partly to the pre-season experience, but mainly to the improved gymnasts themselves. The top scorer and Most Valuable Player, Brenda Charron, will be next year's co-captain along with Cheryl Cutler.

There is great potential among the fourteen girls returning out of the sixteen member '72 squad. Several will attend Kathy Corrigan's Gymnastic Camp in Sharon. With a lot of grinding workouts on the mats, the uneven bars, the balance beam and the horse, the girl's routines will develop along with their blisters.

winning streak, was in the midst of the thick pennant battle when their tailspin struck. Lack of clutch performances and some bad breaks from the men in blue seemed to be the main culprits. Yet, if ever a team was at odds with "Lady Luck" herself, it was the '72 Rebels. A close look at the record reveals that the luckless Rebels lost some seven ballgames by a mere two runs or less. These heartbreakers more than anything else helped change an impossible dream into an unbearable nightmare.

Grass Never Greener For Rebel Golfers

Charlie displays his longball form.

Fran connects.

With the depth provided by its five returning veterans, the 1972 Rebel golf team enjoyed one of its finest seasons ever.

Led by seniors Fran Pruell, Charlie Walker and Dave Lipsett the talented golfers drove down the fairways and putted across the greens of the BSL to a 7-2 record and a second place finish behind their downed opponent Needham. While the most outstanding individual records were turned in by Seniors Walker and Lipsett with marks of 5-1-3 and 6-2-1 respectively, all the boys had fine overall records on way to the fine finish. Surely the grass had never looked greener for a Rebel golf team.

Rebel Runners Never Say Die

There are two prerequisites for a successful track team — strong individual performers and a solid overall team depth. The Rebels met the first prerequisite and could boast such talent they could often capture a greater share of firsts in an event. Yet, when it came to the vital seconds and thirds, lack of overall depth, as in recent years, failed the team miserably. The boys who do dedicate their time, however, work hard to keep the team respectable and amidst the toughest opposition never quit. Tracksters such as Mike Crehan, Tom Travers, Steve Kiley and Mike Britton are such men who gave their all to the sport for three years. They will be sorely missed come next spring.

What do you think, Elaine?

Although rainy, cold weather restricted the girls' tennis team to six practices, spirits were not dampened. Until the Wellesley match the team was undefeated in the league. This was mainly because of the strong singles playing of Captain Janet Barr, Lauren Peyton, and Kris Sellers. Janet outmaneuvered Wellesley's number one girls and went on to become the top player in the Bay State League. Lauren was in the midst of beating Wellesley's second singles player when she suffered a sprained ankle. Forced to default, Lauren lost her excellent opportunity to continue undefeated for the season. Kris lost a heartbreaker to the number three girl, but finished the league matches with an otherwise unblemished record.

With Lauren incapacitated, Walpole suffered a loss to Framingham South. After a win over Natick, however, the team finished a strong second in the Bay State League — Walpole's finest showing to date.

A clutch performance by Sue Farrell, beating Natick's third singles player, the improved game of Janice Okubo and Trudy Sellers, and the potential talent exhibited by the junior varsity, mark 1973 hopes. They have a tough act to follow.

CHAMPS AGAIN

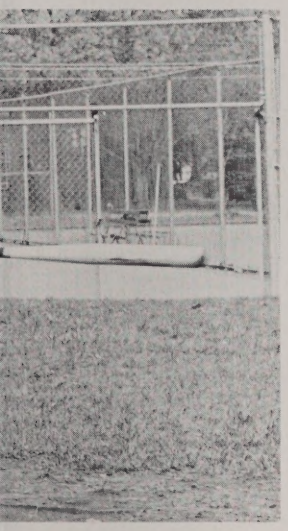
The Whiz Kid

The girls' softball team overpowered their opponents with superb play to recapture the Bay State League championship. The only poor showings were a squeaky victory over Braintree, 21-20, and the sloppy loss to Framingham South, 20-24. When the girls were hot, though, no one could touch their pitching, hitting, and fielding.

Co-captain Barb Pruell led the team with a batting average of 432. Her flawless play at first and third, teamed with shortstop Chris Plasmati, second baseman Ann Hazlett, and first baseman Reenie Groden, proved deadly to most infield hits.

Co-captain Nancy Stuber and junior Doreen Dower shared the pitching responsibilities during the season, posting excellent records of 5-1 and 4-1, respectively. Walpole's adept catcher, Janet Ellis, led the team in RBI's with 22. Chris Plasmati hit the most homeruns (4), and Ann Hazlett earned the winning number of stolen bases (23). Sparkling snatches were exhibited by left fielder Pat Murphy and center fielder Judy McDonald. It was a team effort from start to finish.

The J.V. had a winning season of 8 wins, 3 losses. They will have to play exceptionally well next year in order to match Walpole's performance in 1972.



Nice catch, Ann!

Coming Together

Graduation was the glorified day that we had been growing toward for the past twelve years. And as the countdown of remaining senior days began, memories flooded our minds as we retraced our steps.

It seems like only yesterday that the class of '72 entered the high school halls and classrooms as meek sophomores. An undefeated sophomore football team was a reassuring way to make our presence known to upperclassmen.

On October 15, the entire school participated in a peaceful demonstration concerning the Viet Nam War. The purpose of the all-day assemblies, panels, question-and-answer periods was to enlighten students correlating the history and facts about the war and to give us all an opportunity to discuss conflicting opinions with other students and teachers.

A new dress code was passed or rather abolished by the student council. We proved to the authorities that the length of one's hair and the pattern of one's clothes did not affect the level of one's grades (two points for our side).

As the year progressed, we gathered our wits as a class and elected our first officers and representatives. Class dues, at first, seemed to be a good money-making proposition. The treasury then soon followed the footsteps of previous classes—in the red again!

March brought the sudden death of Mr. Riley. He was a much respected man who will long be remembered.

The winter-thaw inspired us to assemble a Spring Carnival as the first real money-making project. It was encouraging to see how many kids showed up on an early Saturday morning to set up games, booths, food and rides. From nine to five, people poured in. The "genuine" fortune-teller, Mary Davino, set many people away with visions of "a large inheritance" and "happiness forever after." Thanks to President Sue Beise and all the committees, the carnival deserved every piece of the commendation that it received.

Shortly after the festive occasion, the initiation year came to a close. Satisfied with the prosperous year, the class merrily tripped on to an even better one. Books were gladly forfeited and hurried "good-byes" were said to desk top pen pals.

Herb and Sharon lead the way

Tag day was snowed out on the first attempt but that didn't hurt the morale. On the morning of that ill-fated day, the girls searched the halls for the available guy to tag before the other females could grab him. Needless to say, there were a lot of disappointments on the part of both. The next day, boys unloaded their books on the girls. The only successful outcome was waiving the coming detention for being late.

The theme of the Junior Prom was, "We've Only Just Begun." It started April 20th, at eight o'clock, with the traditional chicken dinner at the Blue Hill Country Club on a super-dry Tuesday night. Herb Bilotta and Sharon Kelly led the Grand March climaxed by the crowning of Varla Gelineau. Midnight came much too soon and the beautiful night ended on a romantic note.

The rest of the year was equally spent at WHS, Friendly's, MacDonald's, Horseneck, Mackie's and the dam. June brought sad good-byes to the Class of '71 which left us to fill their shoes. "Senioritis" was already starting to set in.

On November 6, the Student Council sponsored The Annual Autumn Queen Dance featuring "Shades of Glass." The finalists and their escorts were Karen Anderson, and Gene McLean, Darlene Wade and Mark Procaccini, Barbara Pruell and Mike Crehan, Sally Berry and Danny McDonough, Christine Plasmati and Kerry Brooks. Everyone anxiously awaited the outcome as the votes were counted. Finally, at 9:30 Dick Koffinke announced Miss Walpole High for 1971-1972: Chris Plasmati! Everyone agreed that she made a beautiful queen.

The Queen and her court then presided over the half-time activities at the Homecoming Game of the always — victorious Rebels. At half-time the girls were escorted around Turco Field in open cars accompanied by the cheerleaders and baton squad.

A Typical Night At

The Class of 1972's "Western Nite" humorously portrayed a night in the Old West. The cafeteria, which was coverted into the "Grimy Gulch Saloon," was packed with people on Dec. 10th. Seniors provided a buffet supper, drinks at the bar (Walpole Bottling, of course), and entertainment. Dudley Doright came just in time to save Little Nell from Snidely Whiplash.

Chug-a-lug.

Sue's at it again.

At a polka game "Pete-The-Cheat" cheated for the last time and was promptly shot by "Lippy-the-Kid." Lippy was apprehended by Diamond Jim Brady who also caught Doc Bilotta selling bad medicine. A line of chorus girls provided colorful entertainment as the waitresses added to the atmosphere dressed in one traditional costume of the Old West. The evening was enjoyed by the entire audience and the Class of 1972 had done it again!

This worthless heap of brick!

Who done it?

"Absolutely Murder"

And the nut-factory is here.

The Senior Class Play, aptly titled, "Absolutely Murder," was a roaring success although its fate looked dismal up until four days before opening night, with only $30 in ticket money, a last-minute surge or senior spirit, made each performance almost a sell out. Directed by Tom Farrell & Phil Preston, "Absolutely Murder," a mystery comedy, featured a walking corpse, visitors from Berrydale Retreat, the local "home" for the feeble-minded, some romantic action between a slightly soggy Lane Burrage, the Marriage-minded Sky Bently, & the beautiful heroin, Kate. The plot centered around one night spent at a broken-down old mill, with an unsuspected murderess lurking somewhere in the midst of a chaotic series of events leading to the sale of the Mill. The fine performance given by the entire cast made an enjoyable evening for all who attended this years Senior Class Play.

That bug-eyed busy-body!

"Precious and Few"

"Precious and Few." Even a few rain drops couldn't dampen the lively spirit of the Junior Prom, on Wednesday night, April 19. The prom began promptly at seven at the Blue Hills Country Club with dinner followed by dancing, to such popular songs as "Love Story," "We've Only Just Begun," and "Midnight Cowboy." Judi MacDonald was chosen Prom Queen from the finalists: Darlene Wade, Cindy Dalton, Kay Mellin, Anne Brojer and Elaine Nethercote. All too soon the starlight began to fade and a precious evening came to a close.

The belles of the ball.

"You're on my foot!"

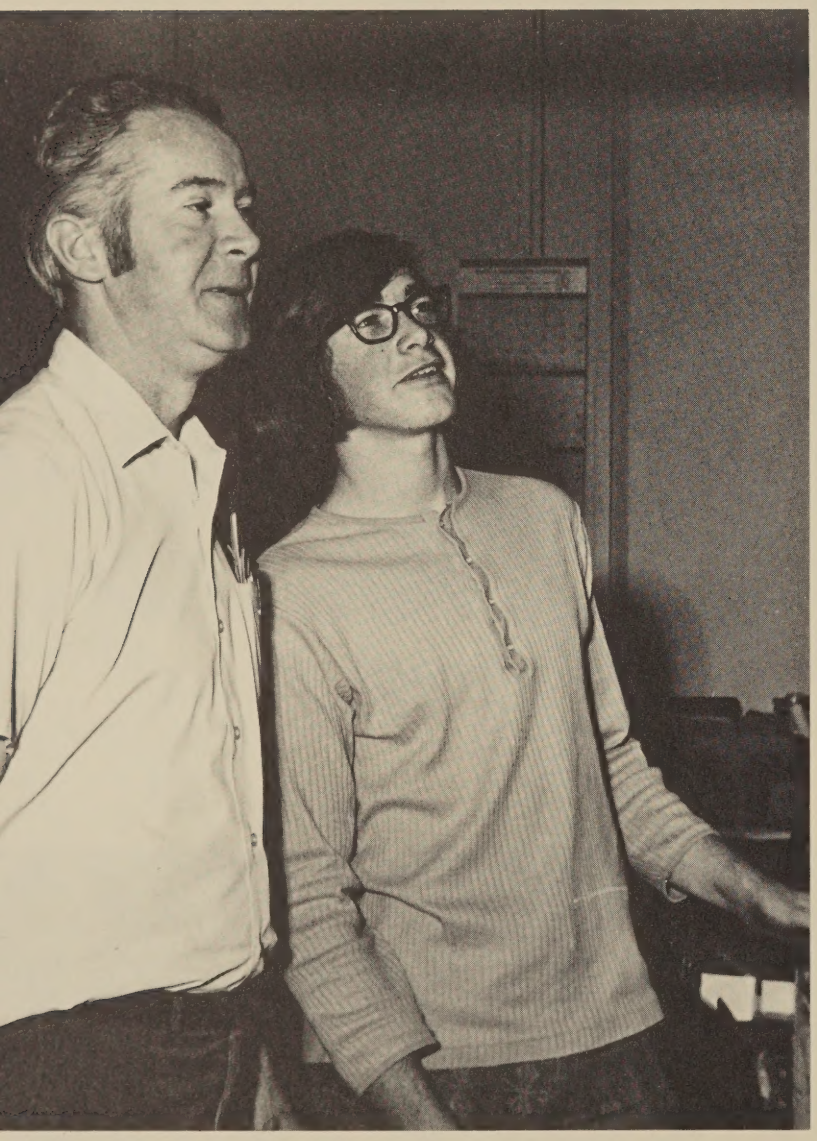
"Oh — my feet!"

"Give me time — I'll remember your name!"

Oh — the good old day . . .

"Attention!!! Forward March!!"

Leaving School To Go To Work . . .



Peter Brown and Mr. Art Brooks look over the stock at Knox Company.

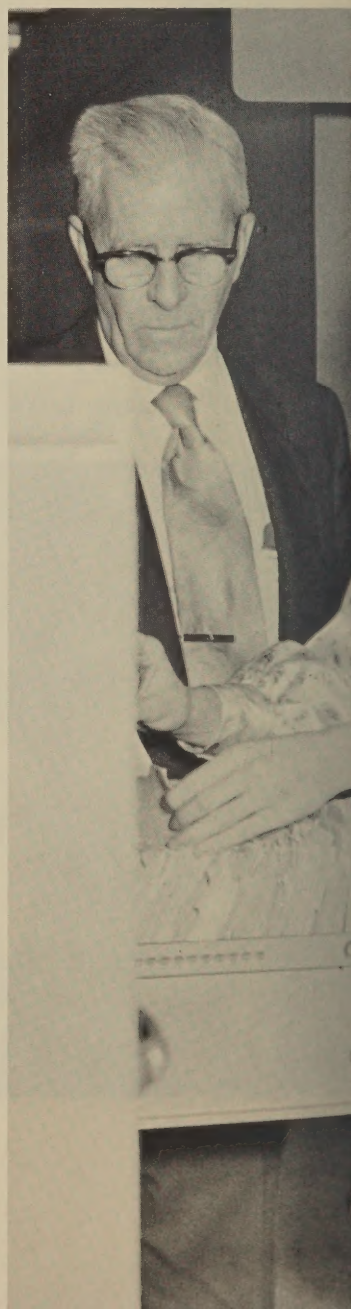
Anne Shea and Miss Ames of Factory Mutual Insurance Company puzzling over an invoice.

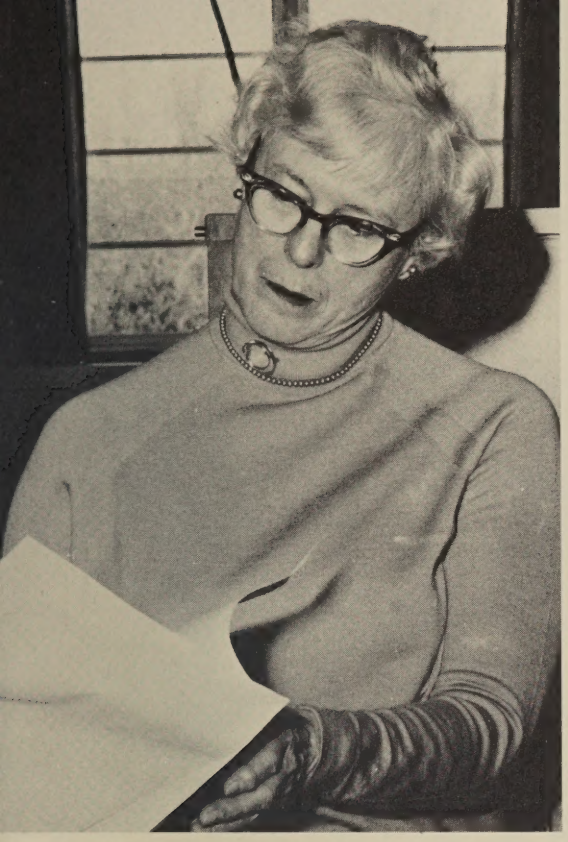
In September, eighteen senior students were given the opportunity to leave school after lunch and report to work in offices in Walpole and surrounding communities. Not only were they paid for their efforts but also received academic credit.

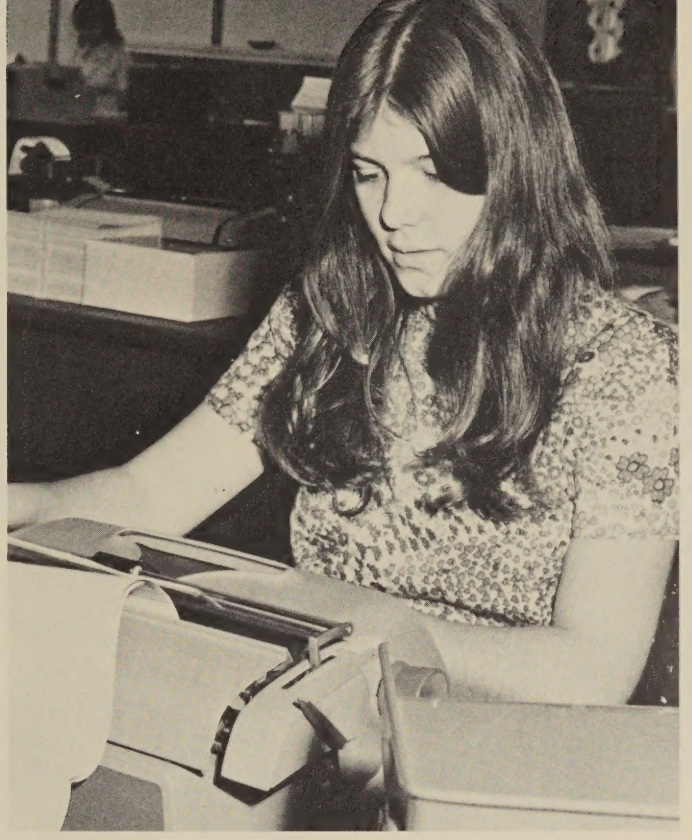
Typing, filing, billing, and operating machines were some of the tasks performed. Supervisors conferred regularly with Mrs. Helen Kelleher, co-ordinator and teacher for the program, on performances, attitudes, work habits.

About sixty percent of the working students will be remaining full time with the company where they worked during the school year, the others leaving after graduation to continue their education in many types of schools or colleges.

All businesses who co-operated with the school by providing jobs have agreed to continue on with this program, so we can only conclude that the Walpole students must have passed this trial period with flying colors.







Alison Mirabile carefully lines up the typewriter for the billing at Foxboro Company.

An End . . . And A Beginning

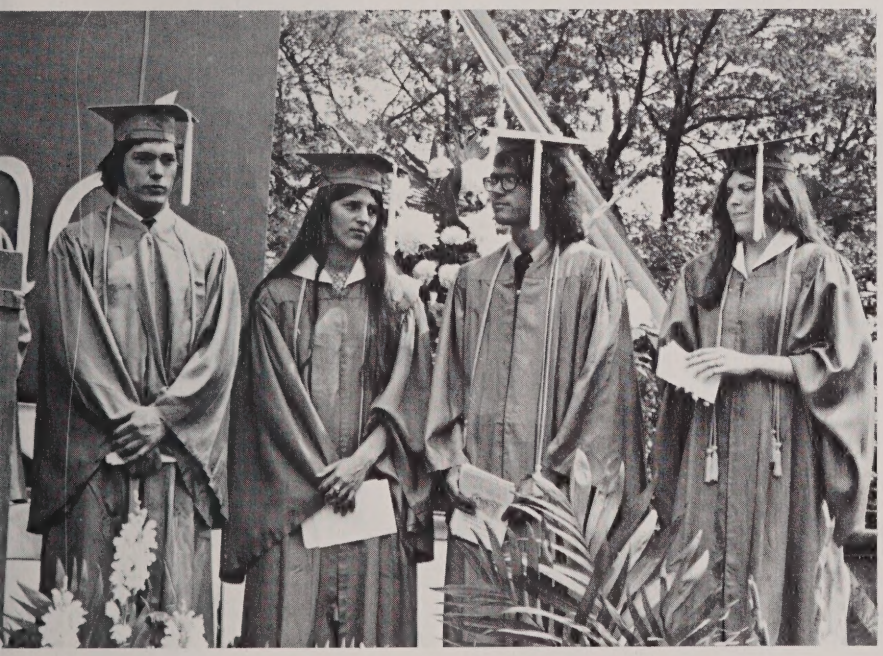
The Seniors spent much of their time holding onto their caps.

Joy . . . Sorrow . . . Anxiety . . . and Hope

With a warm breeze blowing, causing everyone to hold onto their caps, the Walpole High School Class of '72 graduated on Sunday afternoon, June 4, on Turco Field.

Class President Jim Davis announced the class gift, and '73 president, Chris Crown, accepted it on behalf of his class and the rest of the school. Honor essayists Philip Tryon, Christine Varney, Christine Plasmati, and Eric Smeltzer spoke on the moral applications of science in the future.

With a background of the class motto, "Together We Stand," Mr. Stacy gave his final advice to the outgoing seniors, gave out the long-awaited diplomas, and awarded scholarships to various members of the class. The exercises over, the class left the field to the strains of "Exodus" — on their way.



Class essayists ponder the moral applications of science in the future.
